PRESS RELEASE

Date: 12/20/2014

Case Number: 14ES07654

Narrative: On Saturday, December 20, 2014 at approximately 1:00am, the Essex Police responded to a single car motor vehicle accident located at the end of Prospect Street near the residential property of #47 in Essex Junction, Vermont. The operator of the vehicle was identified as 19 year old Quinn Munns of Jericho, Vermont. Munns had gotten his vehicle stuck in the snow while turning around in a driveway located near a steep embankment. While attempting to get the vehicle unstuck, Munns drove down an approximate 40 foot embankment and collided into a tree. Munns was transported to the UVM Medical Center Emergency Room to be treated for non-life threatening injuries.

Alcohol appears to be a factor. Munns was taken into custody after a brief struggle and later issued a citation to appear at court for the offense of DUI. This incident is still under investigation.

Essex Junction Fire, Essex Rescue and Anytime Towing assisted at the scene.
